

Dicks Cool Unit by Custom Design Studio

Filtered air cleaners are the smart way to protect your engine from wear and tear, let there be no two doubts about that. But, there's nothing as sexy as a velocity stack hanging off the end of a carb when it comes to looking serious about your go-fast intentions. Kirk Taylor and the crew at Custom Design Studio feels the same way and introduces their new stack called Dicks Cool Unit that's selling for $205. CNC'd from aircraft-grade aluminum for a direct bolt-on fit for Mikuni carbs, the vintage-looking brass-screened stack safely keeps out small animals and children's hands as it's drawing air into the engine.

Although it sometimes seems that way, not everybody is running a Mikuni and it's pictured here with the available adapter for S&S and CV carbs ($103). In case you're a techie push-rodder, there's also an adapter for Harley EFI units up to 2007. To order call 415-382-6662 or email customdesignstudio@sbcglobal.com.

